

WINE BARREL VANITY & SINK CARE INSTRUCTIONS

WOOD:

Your wine barrel has a wax stain and is not a lacquer. As with any un-lacquered wooden surface, do not let water stand on the surface. Standing water may cause discoloration and warping. Make sure to wipe off any water that is left on the surface after use.

You may use "Premier Surface Wax (Model Number: W900-WAX)" to help protect the wood and make it more water resistant. This can be purchased from the Retailer you purchased your vanity from.

If needed: Clean with a non stripping wood cleaner and soft cloth. Note: First try the cleaner in a spot that is not noticeable to make sure it will not discolor the wax stain.

Copper:

Since copper is a natural anti-bacterial surface, it is not necessary to disinfect or scrub your copper. However, you may choose to give your copper sink a thorough cleaning with mild soap and a soft cloth from time to time. Lastly, always avoid using anything abrasive that may remove the patina. That's it!

Following this simple routine of 'rinse and wash' and your copper sink will give you a lifetime of enjoyment!

NOTE: With acidic foods such as... lemons, tomatoes, mustard, pineapple, vinegar, etc., it is best to leave water running while working with products and foods of this nature and remember to thoroughly rinse your sink immediately after use. If the copper surface should get scratched or affected by one of these acidic foods, the copper will naturally regain its original, aged patina with regular use and time.

NOTE: With hard water, just a quick soft cloth-drying after each use and an occasional light waxing helps prevent possible spots. With acidic foods such as tomatoes, citrus fruit and anything with vinegar, etc., just rinsing with water ensures keeping the surface integrity.

If the copper surface should get scratched, it will regain its original, aged patina with regular use and no other care procedure.

The most important thing to remember about this copper is:

DO NOT use abrasive cleansers or disinfectants on the non-shiny copper. It does NOT require that much work!
